

Today's Martyrs – July 2013

Monday July 1, 2013

United Kingdom: London

Tony Miano (aged 49, U.S. citizen, arrested for public preaching on traditional Christian morality)

Andrea Minichiello Williams (chief executive of the Christian Legal Centre, UPDATE: said "If we continue on the current trajectory, Tony [Miano]'s arrest will simply be the first of many. No assurances that the government gives will be enough. It is ridiculous to think that if the same sex marriage Bill goes through these kinds of incidents will magically cease. It's clear that there is already a clampdown on freedom of speech where people publicly express mainstream Christian views on sexual ethics")

Egypt: Delgia

Bishop Botros Fahim Awad Hanna (UPDATE: described the attack on St George church in which the rectory and church were burned down following the removal of President Morsi by the military: "Thank God there were no victims and injuries but the alarm continues. The fundamentalists have closed the roads at the entrance to the village. They shout slogans against Christians, they say they want to destroy everything and now they are trying again to storm the church. The local police are helpless, I called Cairo to ask for the intervention of the army")

Egypt: Marsa Matruh

Fr Bijimi Anba-Boula (church attacked: "I heard gunshots outside between Salafis and the armed forces at around 10:30pm. Two hours later, an unknown group was throwing stones violently on the Holy Virgin church. I ran there and called the army for help. They broke windows with stones and burnt down the security guard quarters. I think Islamists are putting us in the same bag with liberals and other Morsi opponents. They simply persecute everybody who is not sharing their ideas")
