India: West Delhi

Pastor Praveen Kumar (described repeated attacks against his parish in August and September, 2014: "The RSS clad in their uniforms stopped some church members on their way to the church and chased them back to their homes. They teased and uttered vulgar words to the ladies from our church and deliberately offered prasad [food offered to idols] when the congregation came out from the church...The Station House Officer at that time was B.R. Sangla, and every time we asked for his help, he said that we were the ones creating trouble, and he threatened to lock us up. Finally, one member of the National Minority Commission, Abraham M. Patiani, helped us out by addressing our issue to the Deputy Commissioner of Police, who told the anti-Christian people not to bother us again”)

Syria: Adra al-Ummaliya, outside Damascus

George Assaf (son of Alice Assaf, killed by ISIL for hiding Syrian Army soldiers in their home, his mother said after they were betrayed by a neighbor)

Alice Assaf, (UPDATE: said "So, they broke into the house like crazy and arrested my son.

They told him they would not kill him if he abandoned his religion. But, he said to them, 'I will never abandon my religion.' So, they started to beat him in the guest room. They took him to backyard and shot him. And they killed him...The army buried him in a mass grave because there were many people dead. Yes, many were killed. I continued to search for my son in hospitals for two months, hoping to find him among the corpses. I went over and over again to look for him and I did not give up hope until they confirmed his death a while ago. My wish was to find his body and bury him myself"; claimed that ISIL murdered 250 girls, most of whom were Christian, by putting them in an industrial dough kneader, the youngest was 4 years old, 50 more were beheaded in front of their parents)
