Fr Ibrahim Surouj (library torched after a pamphlet allegedly insulting Islam was found, two-thirds of the 80,000 books and manuscripts were destroyed; described the events leading to the burning of the library "I had somebody working here in the library, and it was his first day of work. He was putting away books in the corner, and some men entered and shot him in the groin with seven bullets from a gun with a silencer. I was in the garden, not two meters away. I heard him shout and came in, so we called the ambulance, and, thanks be to God, he is alive. After this, in the same evening, they called for a fatwa against me in front of the mosque, because they said I criticized the prophet. Later that evening they tried to come burn the library. They didn't succeed, because the police noticed and they sent three cars to guard the library. But the second evening, five people came in, broke down the door, threw a gallon of petrol, and burned down the library")

If I am still alive, it is thanks to the strength that your prayers give me. I have met many people who speak and fight for me. Unfortunately still to no avail. At this time I just want to trust the mercy of God, who can do everything, that all is possible. Only He can liberate me...This winter I am facing many problems: my cell has no heating and no suitable door for shelter from the bitter cold. Also the security measures are not adequate, I do not have enough money for daily needs, and I am very far from Lahore so my family cannot help me...I know you pray for me with all your heart. And this gives me confidence that one day my freedom will be possible. Certain to be remembered in your prayers, I greet you with affection. Asia Bibi, your daughter in the faith")

I often had to think about God's plagues for Egypt. Being in this concentration camp felt like undergoing all those 10 plagues at the same time. People were dying and their corpses were burnt. The guards scattered the ashes over the road. We walked that road every day and each time I thought: one day the other prisoners will walk over me...Despite everything, I remained faithful to God. I remained faithful and God helped me survive. Not only that, He gave me a heart to evangelize other prisoners. Frankly, I was too scared to do it. I wanted to live. How could God ask me to tell the other prisoners about Jesus? I would die if they caught me. God persisted. He showed me which prisoners I should approach...")
