Syria

Fr Sirjun Zumaya (wife's uncle Wanis captured by ISIL, said in Lebanon "The village in which my wife's family lived in had no strategic value...They lived as one. It did not occur to them at all that they could be the victims of ferocious barbarism whose hearts lack honor, because of the failure and conspiracy of the disgraceful international community. After the Chaldeans and Yazidis came the Assyrians' turn. The ethnic cleansing in the region continues, from Iraq to the Levant, amidst dubious international silence...Whose turn is it? Who can we appeal to? I don't have anyone but Jesus Christ to appeal to")

Syria: Hasaka

Syria: Aleppo

Bishop George Abu Khazen OFM (UPDATE: commented on the rebels refusal to a UN negotiated humanitarian truce "The rejection confirms that the war will continue until foreign powers fuel it. The US and Turks have just declared to have a plan of support and training of rebel groups for the next three years. So for them the war will last another three years, and the people here will continue to suffer and die for another three years...Before the riots, the nine hundred miles on the Turkish border were protected, and if by chance a shepherd crossed the border to catch a sheep that escaped, they would shoot and kill him. Now thousands of militiamen from there enter Syria with heavy weapons, while refugees are rejected, who from Syria try to go elsewhere to escape the violence of the jihadists")

Rev Victor Dass (described an attack by Hindu nationalists on a Christian funeral procession, mourners beaten and told that the body of the Christian would pollute the village and that their opposition to the burial was part of Swachh Bharat [Clean India] campaign, casket left behind as the mourners fled)

Pastor Maipal Singh (retrieved the casket and took it to a different cemetery)

Pastor Sunil Salvation (said “We were given police protection for both the previous burials that we conducted, but March 6, being a holiday on account of the festival of Holi [Hindu festival of colors], we decided not to bother the police and perform the burial ourselves...We were beaten mercilessly. The ambulance in which we were carrying the body was also broken; the glass windows were shattered. The spade with which we were digging the ground was taken up by someone in the mob, and he swung it at the ambulance driver with full force. Thankfully the driver ducked, and the spade did not hit him. If it had, the driver would not have survived”)

Rev Virendar Kumar (aged 42, said “The Christians were beaten very severely as the mob targeted the Christians individually. Each and every Christian was being beaten up by 10-12 people from the mob. Around 35-plus Christians are hospitalized in different hospitals in Faridabad. Some are seriously injured. Only those who escaped early escaped the beating. I was one of them. It was a mostly young crowd, but because of color on their faces due to the festival, we cannot identify them...How can this happen in a country where law and order is supposed to prevail?”)

Rev S.P. David (filed a police report, no arrests have been made)

Rev Vijayesh Lal (UPDATE: said “Things have changed in the last few months, and now more than ever the minority Christian community in Haryana is being victimized by hate crimes. Pakistan: Youhanabad area, Lahore, Punjab province

Two churches were attacked by the Pakistani Taliban, initial toll is 14 dead and 80 wounded, several children unaccounted for, two alleged attackers were reportedly captured by enraged mothers who stoned them then burned them alive

Patras Bhatti (aged 48, taxi driver, assisted with security at St John's church, shirt stained by blood and flesh of victims, said he heard gunfire then "Seconds later the blue door of the steel gate came flying inside with a blast. The echo still resounds in my head. I can hear properly from my right ear...We had a small committee of 12 parishioners who were stationed at the gate and in the street outside. It's a free service to protect the Church attendants and only God will reward us. Perhaps He saved me to die some day on duty")

Moon Ashknaz (pointed to a bloodstain on the ground near the church gate "This is the blood of the leader of our security team. There was panic inside but we led the parishioners outside, towards the school playground, at the back and through an emergency exit")

Archbishop Sebastian Francis Shah (UPDATE: visited both churches, said "Time and again we had been demanding tighter security measures, especially during the Sunday service. The government has failed to protect us. All religious groups have to meet the challenge and raise their voice against this kind of attack...We salute the young martyrs who prevented the militants from entering the Church building. The wounds of the [September 22, 2013] Peshawar Church blasts are still fresh; we are already on the road to Calvary")

Rev Irshad Ashknaz (Christ Church, said the terror attack began during Communion with gunfire: "Soon afterwards there was a loud explosion, and clouds of dust rose above the street. By that time we had evacuated members of the congregation from the back door; some 1,000 people were present inside the church at that time")

Asher Wasim (described the attack on Christ Church "[The shooter with the machine gun was] clearing the way for the bomber [as he approached] the entrance from the opposite side")

Yousuf Goga (Christ Church volunteer security guard, hospitalized, died)

Shamim Bhatti (Christ Church volunteer security guard, hospitalized in critical condition)

Obaid Sardar Khokhar (aged 32, husband of Ambreen Khokhar, father of Angelina Khokhar, Christ Church volunteer security guard, overpowered the suicide bomber and dragged him away from the church, shot in the head by the bomber's accompanying gunman)

Ambreen Khokhar (wife of Obaid Sardar Khokhar, mother of Angelina Khokhar, pregnant, shot dead when she tried to prevent Angelina from rushing to her father after he was shot)

Angelina Khokhar (aged 3, daughter of Obaid Sardar Khokhar and Ambreen Khokhar, saved by her mother's intervention during the terror attack, now orphaned)

Fr Francis Gulzar (UPDATE: described the actions of Akash Bashir during the terror attack on St John's Church)

Akash Bashir (aged 19, son of Bashir Emmanuel, St John Church volunteer security guard, pulled the attacking suicide bomber down as he attempted to scale the wall surrounding the church even after he was shown the explosive vest, killed in the explosion)

Bashir Emmanuel (father of Akash Bashir, described how his son died stopping a suicide bomber from entering his church)

Sr Arsene (said “We’re treated as second class citizens. We’d like the government to give Christians our due place and due right. That’s why the angry youths reacted [by rioting and killing two suspected terrorists]”)

Napoleon Qayyum (rights advocate; UPDATE: resides only 100 yards from St John's Church, said “The local police station had been requested to provide a walk-through gate for security, but no such measure was put in place”, complained that Muslims killed while stopping suicide bombers are given posthumous government awards but Christians never are)

Kushi Masih (aged 55, church usher, shot during the attempted twin suicide bombing, died the following day)

Qaisor Pervez (church security volunteer, cousin of Wilson Chowdhry, 85% of his body burned, in a coma, several bones broken, teeth shattered, vision affected)

Amir Zahoor (paramedic, church youth leader, knocked unconscious by the explosion, hit in the face and right arm with shrapnel, had arrived at church late to find children noisily playing in the church courtyard and oddly reacted with anger and sent them into the church, thus saving them - he normally would not have been bothered by them, refused medical treatment - told by the hospital 'Bomb blasts happen every day, it is not something new to be treated or cared for')

Sikander Inyat (aged 27, church security volunteer, rickshaw driver, only son and caregiver for his ageing father, lost his right eye in the explosion, left leg fractured)

Yousaf Masih (aged 41, church security volunteer, garment factory worker, ran toward the gunman, shot twice in his left arm, left leg hit with shrapnel)

Christians from My Canada met with Members of Parliament to describe growing attacks on religious freedom and to call for the creation of an Office of Religious Freedom

Bill Prankard (said “We believe it is the government’s duty to protect our religious rights under the Charter. But it is also the duty of every Christian to speak up in defence of our values and rights. Too many have been silent and complacent”)

Faytene Grasseschi (said “We were catalyzed by the persecution of Trinity Western University by the Bank of Montreal and the law societies” under which the bank successfully pressured the societies to prevent the Christian university's law school graduates from joining the bar)

Lia Milousis (said “I myself have been a victim of bullying in my high school because of my Christian faith and have sat in classes where it is mocked at university. This type of persecution is wrong and alarming. If this creeping barrage continues Canada will become a nation far removed from the values that have made it great”)

Majed El Shafie (Egyptian refugee, said “Within our schools, within our churches even, we are being told what to think and what to say...It is not so bad now compared to other parts of the world. But over the next 10 or 20 years, it will affect us all, step by step, little by little, unless we do something...I don’t blame the people who are doing this. I blame the Christians who are silent about it. In the absence of light, the darkness rules”)

Andre Schutten (said that “a radical religious secularism...[a] new religion [is running things] and even a lot of so-called Christians don’t realize they are actually living their lives in this world view”)

Egypt: Al-Our village, Minya province

Milad Nageh (described how his church was attacked for having a memorial service for relatives who were beheaded in Libya by ISIL "“At 8 pm, a group of armed Muslim young men in six or seven cars from nearby villages stormed our village. Many Muslim fanatic young men joined those who came from the other nearby villages and attacked the church. They shot guns at the church and pelted the church with stones and blocks. They smashed the sign of the church, destroying the ground of the church yard and breaking the widows of the service buildings of the church. They also burned a car that was parked in the front of the church. The Muslims whose homes surrounded the church were throwing stones at the church from the roofs of their homes...This attack on the church was arranged before because a truck loaded with cement blocks had unloaded all of their blocks in the front of a Muslim home nearby the church two days ago. We thought that these blocks would be used in construction of a building belonging to the owner of this home, but these blocks were prepared to attack the church", police stood by and allowed the attacks to proceed)

Fr Makar Issa (village pastor, said "On Thursday evening, March 26, I was informed that the next day, Friday there will be Islamic demonstrations in the village against us. Bishop Raphael who came from Cairo to take part in the prayer of the memorial of 40th day of our martyrs informed that some Muslims from the village and the other nearby villages will organize march in our village after their Friday noon prayer...I called the police many times and asked them to come to guard us but they came late and after their arrival they didn't guard the church. They stopped in the entrance of the village. Even still they allowed the cars of the attackers to enter the village and attack us and the church without any intervention from them to protect us. I charge the responsibility of what happened to the policemen and I accuse them of inaction, indifference and complicity")

Malak Nageh Ishack (said "We gave the security forces names of 100 Muslim young men from the village who took part in attacking the church, but police men arrested only five of them and the rest of them are free. The police asked us to stay in our homes, leaving the Muslim attackers free walking in the village streets, plus we have received threats from the Muslims that they will attack us again after the security forces leave the village”)

According to some estimates, 80-90% of the occupied areas by Boko Haram have been freed in recent weeks by the army of Nigeria, with the help of Chad and Niger. One can see how the military offensive prepared itself in recent months thanks to the supply of weapons from South Africa, after Western countries, particularly the United States, refused to sell arms to Nigeria...In Nigeria, however, one wonders why, if our military had the ability to hunt Boko Haram, this was not done before, why now, on the eve of elections?")
