

Today's Martyrs

Resources for understanding current Christian witness and martyrdom

Events – July 2016

Friday July 1, 2016

Bangladesh: Dhaka

Bishop Gervas Rozario (denounced a terror attack that killed 20 hostages, said: "God shall not tolerate this massacre. Now it's up to the country's Muslims. They must stand up to save their religion...May God grant eternal peace to the departed souls. The Christian martyrs of the massacre shall be remembered in a very special way")

Fr Luca Monti (brother of Simona Monti, said in Santa Lucia di Serino, near Naples, Italy "It was deeply moving to me to hear my father say, 'I have given God one son as a priest, and one daughter as a martyr'")

Simona Monti (aged 33, sister of Fr Luca Monti, killed along with her unborn baby in an ISIL terror attack on a bakery)

Lebanon: Beirut

Fr Paul Karam (UPDATE: spoke on the ongoing refugee crisis and the increase of violence in the country "This is what you get if no one checks who the refugees are. Extremists become more active, not only here, but also in Istanbul, Paris, Belgium...We should not generalize, because not all refugees are criminals. Many work and only ask to live in dignity. But the degrading condition at the [refugee] facilities, the hardships and the sense of abandonment favor fundamentalist ideologies")

Syria: Aleppo

Archbishop Jean-Clément Jeanbart (UPDATE: told of a rocket attack that hit a parochial school but the children escaped injury in their shelter, wrote "The next day, when a great crowd had gathered for Sunday Mass, I was at a loss for words, but I called on the faithful to join me in a prayer of thanksgiving to the Lord, Who, once again, had seen fit to protect us. It was a good occasion to remind Christians that they are not alone and that our Good Shepherd is always there, very close to us, and that He never leave us orphaned or without help for even a single instant...In reviewing the course of events of the past five years of this pitiless war, we cannot fail to see his salutary actions among us. This terrible and infernal war, would have utterly destroyed us or driven us to despair and madness, had it not been for his tender care...As I am writing this, deafened by the explosions of intense bombing raids, I raise my eyes on high, to ask God to shorten the duration of this long trial, which, for five years, has not stopped hurting his people...May our friends who wish us well accompany us with their prayers, may they be at our sides to defend our cause, strengthen our resistance and help us stay put")

Russia

President Putin signed an anti-missionary law

Bishop Sergei Ryakhovsky (appealed to President Putin on June 23, 2016 to not sign the new anti-terrorism law which would criminalize unregistered missionary activity and which has been passed by the Duma; UPDATE: wrote “The obligation on every believer to have a special permit to spread his or her beliefs, as well as hand out religious literature and material outside of places of worship and used structures is not only absurd and offensive, but also creates the basis for mass persecution of believers for violating these provisions. Soviet history shows us how many people of different faiths have been persecuted for spreading the Word of God. This law brings us back to a shameful past”)

Sergey Rakhuba (Mission Eurasia, wrote “[It’s] the most draconian anti-religion bill to be proposed in Russia since Nikita Khrushchev promised to eliminate Christianity in the Soviet Union. For years we have watched as huge changes take place in Russia under the increasingly dictatorial rule of President Putin and his administration. Freedom of religion represents a threat to the current political agenda in Russia. Today, few — if any — foreign Christian mission groups have an official presence in Russia, having been pushed out by anti-evangelical regulations”)

Oleg Goncharov (wrote "It is impossible for believers to comply with the requirements not to express their religious beliefs and to be silent even in their own homes as required by the legislation...")

Nigeria: Sabon Gida village, near Keffi, Nasarawa state

Pastor Hamza Alkali (aged 66, father of four, attacked by a Fulani Muslim herdsman. part of his left hand cut off, wrestled the knife away from his attacker, hospitalized, remainder of his hand and wrist amputated, said “Every Christian that is passing through persecution should stand firm, as God will not abandon such a person. Our persecutors should know that one day they will stand before God to account for what they done here on earth. So what they should do is to come closer to God. They should repent and leave the evil ways they are following”)

India: between Baligunda and Malapanga, Kandhamal district, Odisha state

Three Christians and three others were killed by police who claimed they were attacking Maoists rebels

Sajan K George (UPDATE: said “This is not an isolated case. Dalits and Tribals are being killed all the time. Our people are not Maoist. They are struggling to survive and lead a life of dignity despite veiled threats and the climate of insecurity present in the district...[this is a sinister warning for Christians”)

Fr Madan Singh (said of the government promise of financial compensation to families of the deceased “Compensation might satisfy the families, but it is not enough. Measures to protect Christians are needed. The latest event comes as a shock to Adivasi [aboriginals] and Dalits [untouchables]”)

Fr Ajaya Kumar Singh (UPDATE: said "It is a well-planned strategy to create terror among poor villages")

Nigeria: Abuja

Pastor Eunice Mojisola Olawale (aged 41, wife of Pastor Olawale Elisha, mother of seven including Jessica Olawale, hacked to death while street preaching, witnesses said that as she was killed her last words were "Blood of Jesus! Blood of Jesus! Blood of Jesus!")

Jessica Olawale (daughter of Pastors Eunice Olawale and Olawale Elisha, said of her mother's murder "She is innocent; she didn't do anybody any harm. She uses just her megaphone and Bible, just preaching. They just killed her like a chicken and left her there")

Pastor Olawale Elisha (widower of Pastor Eunice Olawale, identified his wife's body, said "My wife always goes out early in the morning for 'Morning Cry.' There was a particular day she went out and she told me that there is a mosque at the back where they commented about what she said. So I just cautioned her. This morning, she went around 5 a.m. and I was still in bed because we did vigil which she participated in for a while because of the Morning Cry she planned to undertake"; later said "My desire is that our persecutors get to know God – our desire is to see God arresting them one by one to confess Jesus Christ. You know when Jesus Christ saves their souls, Satan and hell will lose. If we desire that those who persecute us should die, then we are increasing the population of hell. The Bible says there is rejoicing in heaven when a sinner repents. Our persecutors were also created in God's image. It is because we are weak that we think people that are doing evil are stronger. But if we are committed, God knows how to handle our persecutors and increase people coming to His kingdom")

Syria: Aleppo

Archbishop Antoine Audo SJ (UPDATE: said "We are again under bombs. We do not know what is about to happen. Even last night we could not sleep, and this morning an artillery shell also fell in the street of our cathedral, resulting in one death and three injuries. Also for this reason we have decided not to reopen the Caritas offices, which had been closed for a few days during the Muslim feast for the end of Ramadan...we are all heartbroken by what is happening, on the other side there are many that in this state meet to celebrate the sacraments, pray, share a spirit of hope and mercy. I have just been called by the participants in a spiritual retreat organized on the mountains by the Focolare members. There were two hundred people, with ten priests. From next Thursday we will meet in Tartus with 175 operators and Caritas volunteers from all over Syria, for a few days of formation and meetings. It is a mysterious and wonderful paradox: on one hand there is the desolation of war, and on the other there is the consolation of God")

Bishop George Abu Khazen OFM (UPDATE: said "heavy shelling throughout the day...[which] have also affected our pastoral center...there have been no casualties, as was unfortunately the case elsewhere...[the church] has suspended all activities in the summer program, including playtime and recreation for the children...only the church will stay open so that the faithful can come and pray or attend services. Everything else has been stopped for now...Unfortunately here we are not facing a clash between two armies, because the front is elsewhere. This is about attacks against civilians out of sheer vindictiveness, with increasingly sophisticated weapons")

Rev Augustine Akpen Leva (described recent attacks by Fulani herders “This is another jihad like the one waged by Boko Haram in the north-east of the country. The attackers carry sophisticated weapons, sometimes they even used chemical weapons on our communities. They just come, often overnight when people are sleeping. They attack defenseless people and go away. They clearly have an agenda: to wipe out Christian presence and take over the land. Lots of people have been killed and it is difficult to get an accurate death toll of the attacks. Sometimes they kill 20, another day they may kill 50. In recent weeks, more than 100 were killed in Logo and Ukum Local Government Areas...The government has failed us. There’s no protection at all. The few security forces, which are often present, ran away before the attack”)

Eight Christian homes were attacked, eight Muslim attackers were detained, eight Christians were detained so that a 'reconciliation meeting' could be arranged Mahrous Ishak (said "On Thursday 21 July, we received threats of an attack the next day. We told the police and national security, but they showed no interest saying 'If an attack happens, call us then and we'll come quickly'. On Friday, during the Muslim prayers the loudspeakers suddenly fell eerily silent. Later, crowds filed out of mosques. One cleric was clearly seen directing groups of people in different ways towards Christian homes...When we asked why they [police] were detaining victims as well as perpetrators, they told us it was a matter of 'state security' and that's how things are done. One young man, Michael Ibrahim, went to the police station to complain about the attack. He was instead detained and no report was filed.
