Pakistan: Sheikhpura, Punjab province

Ansar Masih (aged 21, son of Nasreen Bibi, brother of Samina Bibi, abducted by the family of a Muslim woman he had befriended, stripped, beaten and tortured until unconscious, dumped at his family's home, hospitalized, moved to a specialized burn unit, said "I am still traumatized by the attack and am too scared to leave my home. The men hurt me so bad, they kicked, me punched me, bit me, spat at me, hit me with bars and then burnt me after I first watched them heat the poles they had beaten me with in their fireplace. I was simply a friend of Jameela we did not have any physical affair, but this family simply hate Christians and have enacted such brutality on me because to them I am just like rubbish. I lost consciousness during the burning and then found myself in hospital. I am still in pain and will be scarred for life but at least I am alive. God preserved my life and I will stay forever indebted to him")

Samina Bibi (aged 30, sister of Ansar Masih, filed a police report after her brother was abducted and tortured, police have detained only one assailant)

Nasreen Bibi (aged 50, mother of Ansar Masih, said "My son's life is precious to me, he has undergone brutality the likes of which I have never seen before. I am still shocked by the violence that he has survived and thank God that he is recovering. The men that hurt him so bad deserve to be punished and I am praying God will bring justice into this situation as it happens to so many young Christian men")

Egypt: Naja Rizq Shenouda hamlet, Tahta district, Sohag province

Bishop Asheiya (wrote in a newly published letter “The Copts of Naja Rizq Shenouda have suffered since 1971 on account of the refusal of the local authorities to grant them a permit to build a church on a 618sq.m plot of land owned by the Church and officially registered as Church property. There is no church in the hamlet which is home to some 3,500 Copts, the Copts worship in a rundown building — if it can be termed ‘building’ — that has no ceiling and thus no privacy and is moreover unshielded against weather conditions”)

Youssef Sidhoum (editor of the Coptic newspaper al-Watani; UPDATE: wrote that the church building license was referred to provincial security by the governor in January 2017 in violation of the 2016 Law for Building and Restoring Churches)

Venezuela: Caracas and Merida

Church leaders spoke out after the national legislature was dissolved

Cardinal Jorge Urosa Savino (UPDATE: said "The National Assembly is still blocked. I am deeply concerned about the state of emergency in our country regarding poor economic growth which has persisted for the past twelve months. This situation is not normal. Neither are other measures such as the annulment of the revocatory referendum and postponement of elections for governors. This creates a situation of dictatorship")

Cardinal Baltazar Enrique Porras Cardozo (UPDATE: said "corrections to sentences are simply cosmetic changes which do not resolve the situation, since they fail to recognize the National Assembly as an autonomous body thus confusing the people. We continue to uphold valid the request made by Cardinal Parolin, last year, to restore the regular function of Parliament... If parliament is to be accused, it must be the people who decide, however at the moment, the real needs of the people are food and medicine")

Pakistan: Islamabad

Prof Anjum James Paul (UPDATE: appeared before the Pakistan Electronic Media Regulatory Authority [PEMRA] with documentation concerning the television drama 'Baji Irshad' depiction of Christians "There is desecration of religious symbol as there are vulgar dialogues wearing holy Cross. There is racial discrimination as well because there are nick names like Kala Joseph [black Joseph], Peeno, Meedan, Chitti etc...Only Christians in the drama have been presented as non-serious, inferior, beggars, thieves, greedy, without etiquettes, superstitious, scandalizing their daughters, disrespecting parents, disrespecting husband, disrespecting mother...and love affairs but Muslims have been presented very decent and well-mannered. Only Christians have been presented doing menial jobs...Only Christians have been presented uneducated as they wrongly speak Urdu and English language. But it is strange that when they speak with any Muslim then no wrong pronunciation. The biased writer has deliberately ignored the true picture of Christians who have been torch bearers in education, health, defense and many other fields", the PEMRA officials showed little interest in his presentation)

Pakistan: Uggoki, Sialkot

Ameen Masih (aged 45, husband of Rakhil Bibi, father of three, beaten in his home over a debt dispute)

Egypt: el-Arish, Sinai

George (aged 62, husband of Sabreen, reported to have been threatened by ISIL with death, in hiding, said "We still don't feel safe here. ISIL know exactly where we are. The security forces are suffering even more than we are: they are also being slaughtered")

Sabreen (aged 53, wife of George, reported to be in hiding, three friends killed by ISIL)

<http://www.copticsolidarity.org/2017/04/03/they-called-my-husband-an-infidel-and-killed-him/>

Greece: Athens

Metropolitan Ignatius Georgakopoulos (aged 61, reported to have said that the country was heading for catastrophe because it will have only 8 million people by 2030 due to abortion, social immaturity, devaluation and belittling of motherhood and the family, false prosperity, and relativism: “Financial incentives are certainly necessary, but the long experience of the Church shows that the demographic problem has its basis primarily in spiritual causes”)

<http://www.pravoslavie.ru/english/102412.htm>

Nigeria

Kwamkur Samuel (Director of Legal and Public Affairs, Christian Association of Nigeria, reported to have written a letter to the DSS [Department of State Services] protesting the detention of four CAN leaders: “Regrettably, despite assurances from your operatives, led by the Director of Operations, who said that the invitation was only to interact with these distinguished Nigerian Christians and to seek their opinion and advice on how to address the lingering ethno-religious crises in Nigeria, it turned out that the main reason behind the invitation was your interest in the video jingle produced by CAN...to raise funds for the support of the Church and distressed Christians in Nigeria. It was shocking to hear from your establishment that these materials were made to incite violence in response to the attempted annihilation of the Church in Southern Kaduna. With all due respect, such analysis and conclusion were vexatious and very wrong. Unfortunately, you ignored our request while also insisting that the persons invited should report to your Head Office as a matter of extreme urgency, individually and on different dates. The most worrisome and reprehensible aspect of the whole exercise is that these respectable Nigerians, with the exception of General Dogonyaro, were compelled to write statements 'under caution' as if they were common criminals”)

Lt Gen Joshua Dogonyaro retired (CAN leader, reported to have been interrogated by the DSS)

Justice Kalajine Anigbogu (CAN leader, retired justice, reported to have been interrogated by the DSS, forced to write a statement)

Mrs Osaretin Demuren (CAN leader, reported to have been interrogated by the DSS, forced to write a statement)

Mr Tunde Lemo (CAN leader, former Deputy Governor of Central Bank of Nigeria, reported to have been interrogated by the DSS, forced to write a statement)

Dame Priscilla Kuye (CAN leader, former President of the Nigerian Bar Association, reported to have been scheduled for interrogation by the DSS)

Solomon Asemota (CAN leader, reported to have been scheduled for interrogation by the DSS)

Bosun Emmanuel (CAN leader, reported to have been scheduled for interrogation by the DSS)

Rev Dr Samson Olasupo Ayokunle (CAN President; UPDATE: reported to have been scheduled for interrogation by the DSS)

Central African Republic: Ngaoundaye

Fr Aurelio Gazzera OCD (UPDATE: said "...a group of former Seleka rebels entered the village, ransacking homes, and the two missions in the area, that of the Capuchin Fathers and that of the Polish religious of the Sisters of Divine Charity of Saint Giovanna Antida Thouret. There seems to have been at least four deaths. Thanks to the intervention of MINUSCA [UN Mission in Central Africa] the militiamen withdrew...Some of our mission nuns who were going to the border with a van found the road blocked by thirty armed men, who forced them to follow them as they entered the village...This is a small village which lies at the border of the Central African Republic with Chad and Cameroon, in the extreme northwest of the Country... The sisters told me that the bandits were well armed, but were not molested ...Until substantial forces of MINUSCA peacekeepers and soldiers of the regular army are deployed, the north-west border area will remain in the hands of various armed groups created by former Seleka and their anti-Balaka rivals")

United Kingdom: York

Archbishop John Sentamu (reported to have criticized the National Trust for removing 'Easter' from the Easter Egg Hunt it operates with Cadbury, said "If people visited Birmingham today in the Cadbury World they will discover how [John] Cadbury's Christian faith influenced his industrial output. He built houses for all his workers, he built a church, he made provision for schools. It is obvious that for him Jesus and justice were two sides of the one coin. To drop Easter from Cadbury's Easter Egg Hunt in my book is tantamount to spitting on the grave of Cadbury", Cadbury denied involvement in the removal)

Mexico: Ciudad Juarez

Pastor Chito Aguilar (aged 62, former drug trafficker, said "...eight people walk into a church, one or two will remain at the doors and the others will start collecting watches, rings, wallets...everything. So they become an easy target of the attackers...Seven years ago, the situation was very difficult in Ciudad Juarez. Lots of pastors were kidnapped, their children killed. It seems like for four years we had a period of calm, but in the last year the violence has started increasing again. Pastors are starting to be extorted, leaders threatened with kidnapping, and I believe that among the pastors there is fear because of what we lived and experienced seven or eight years ago")

Adrian Lara (church musician, said “The city of Juarez has been known around the world because the violence has been really hard. Today, in 2017, it’s less prevalent. But in 2012, it was very terrible. Every businessman was called by people, who said: ‘If you don’t pay, we are going to kill your children, or burn your house. We are going to do many things to you if you don’t pay’”)

A suicide bomber attacked a church during the Divine Liturgy, killing 30 and wounding 78

Fr Bishoy Wadie (present during the attack, survived)

Fr Daniel Maher (father of Deacon Beshoy Maher, said “In just seconds, the entire church was filled with smoke, fire, blood, and screams...He was like an angel, standing in the middle of the deacons singing”)

Deacon Beshoy Maher (aged 23, son of Fr Daniel Maher, killed)

Emil Edward (brother of Edmond Edward, wounded in the head, hospitalized)

Wahby Lamie (one nephew was killed in the bombing and one injured, said “How much longer are we going to be this divided? Anyone who’s different from them now is an infidel, whether they’re Muslim or Christian. They see them as infidels. How much longer are these people going to exist?”)

Madeleine (housewife, said "I saw a blue light on the belt of a person who was next to the deacons, then the explosion took place")

Edmond Edward (brother of Emil, said “After the explosion, everything became dark from the smoke. There was a clear lapse in security, which must be tightened from now on to save lives”)

Susan Mikhail (apartment across the street shaken in the blast, said “Deacons were the first to run out of the church. Many of them had blood on their white robes”)

Deacon Magdy George Youssef (aged 58, thrown under a pew by the explosion, said “All I could think of was to find my wife, and all I could see was smoke, blood and completely charred bodies”, later found his wife at home with burns on her face)

Deacon Rafet Habshy (cousin of Hany Ezat, injured)

Hany Ezat (cousin of Deacon Rafet Habshy, said after the explosion “As a Coptic Christian, I no longer feel safe in Egypt”)

Vivian Fareeg (said “There was a huge explosion in the hall. Fire and smoke filled the room and the injuries were extremely severe”)

Fr Youssef Sabry (said “How did this suicide bomber reach the nave? Where were the security forces who were guarding the church? How did they allow a person wearing a suicide vest to enter the church without searching him?”)

Deacon Michael Nabil Ragheb (aged 29, pharmacist, husband of Dr Sara Fekry, father of Priscilla, son of Nabil Ragheb, killed)

Dr Sara Fekry (widow of Michael Nabil Ragheb, said "On Palm Sunday he was actually one of those responsible for the hymns, so on Sunday morning the three of us went to the church to attend the Liturgy and celebrate the feast of Palm Sunday. Michael asked me not to sit in the front row of benches, but to sit in the back of the church and wait for him there until after the celebration. He then got dressed in his deacon clothes and started with the service. I didn't know why he asked me to do sit in the back of the church, but it was God's will, as in the middle of the service, at about 9.10am, the explosion took place. I heard the sound of a very huge explosion and the whole church shook like it was struck by a violent earthquake. Then it became dark in the building and people started to scream. For a moment, I thought it was Judgment Day, but then I got up and rushed to the front of the church, where the choir of deacons had been standing. When I got there, I saw many bodies and body parts lying in a pool of blood. It was like a massacre and I got a very big shock when I found Michael, lying on the ground in a pool of blood...My husband lived the life of heaven on the earth. He continuously prayed and read the Bible. I'm very happy for him as I know he is in a good place, with Jesus in heaven")

Priscilla (aged 3, daughter of Michael Nabil Ragheb and Dr Sara Fekry, granddaughter of Nabil Ragheb, present in the church during the explosion, no reported injuries)

Nabil Ragheb (father of Michael Nabil Ragheb and Kerolos Nabil Ragheb, said ""On Sunday morning I was surprised by one of my neighbors, who was knocking on the door of my flat, asking me where Michael and his wife were. I told her they went to Mar Girgis. She then told me that she heard about an explosion that had taken place at Mar Girgis. I immediately rushed to the church. When I arrived the street was filled with a great number of people, including police and ambulance personnel. I saw one of Michael's friends and when I asked him if he knew where Michael was, he told me that he had gone to heaven. Then I went in to the church and found my son drenched in blood...Michael was a very kind person. He had a very strong relationship with God and is now in a very good place, in heaven, where he will celebrate Easter with Christ")

Kerolos Nabil Ragheb (brother of Michael Nabil Ragheb, said “The parting of my brother is very difficult for us. At the same time, however, we are very happy for him because he met his fate and went to heaven. We, on the other hand, are still struggling in this mortal life, and our fate isn't known yet. I love him so much and I hope to be with him soon. I'm sure that he is in very good place in heaven, with the others who died because of their faith and with the Saints. I envy him. I want to say to my martyred brother: 'I love you so much and I want to be like you'. I also want to say something to ISIL: 'I'm ready to die for my faith, like my brother. It's my desire to follow him in this. I'm waiting for you, so don't delay and please tell me which church you will bomb next so I can wait for you there. I look forward to meet Jesus, so please don't delay, as I wait for you''

Fr Ishak Habib (uncle of Michael Nabil Ragheb, said "Michael was very diligent. He was top of his class in university, where he graduated from the Faculty of Pharmacy with distinction. He was also a graduate from the Coptic Theological College. He was successful, both in his working life and spiritual life. He was a son of the Church from childhood onwards and was a very obedient, humble and honest person. Since 2006 he served at Mar Girgis as a deacon, teaching the children in Sunday school. We are sure that he has gone to a good place, to heaven, and that comforts us")

Ashraf Ramzy (aged 25, said "My father and I still have headaches and a buzzing sound that has been in our ears since after the attack. The microphone made a really intense noise, then I was sure something was about to happen. I even thought of leaving the prayer. It was 9:05 when the bomb exploded. I was standing next to my father behind a column, and we were ten steps away from the blast. [It was] horrific...everyone was scattering around, looking for loved ones...looking for a wife or for a son. Anyone that was far from sight could have been dead...What can we do? Are we expected to stop praying? We're not going to stop praying")

Ishaq Ibrahim (Coptic activist; UPDATE: said "the idea is that the solution isn't in an emergency law, already existing laws could be used properly to remove discriminatory policies and hate speech...when putting the most recent attacks into context of Egypt, part of the problem is that sectarianism, whether societal or institutionalized, is not taken seriously. The state is doing nothing to fight the roots of this discrimination...There's clearly something faulty [with government policy] if in the past six months we have seen three bombings and Christians have been displaced from their homes in Arish")

Mina Thabet (UPDATE: said "There's a huge question mark around the state's strategy in combating terrorism. From 2011 until now, these terrorist operations have moved from the borders and hot spots like Sinai to the heart of the capital and to the cities of the Nile delta. At the same time, there's an increase in human rights violations happening on the premise that this is for the fight against terrorism. The attackers are only gaining more confidence and expertise, and developing ways by which to kill more victims each time...Now Christians are the primary targets, but no one knows who is next")

Mina Abdo (husband of Yvonne, father of Kerollos and Miriam, engineer, Kuwaiti resident, had returned for a visit, killed)

Kerollos (aged 11, son of Yvonne and Mina Abdo, brother of Miriam, Kuwaiti resident, injured in the explosion with shrapnel wounds to the face and right leg, hospitalized)

Yvonne (widow of Mina Abdo, mother of Kerollos and Miriam, doctor of gynecology, Kuwaiti resident, present during the attack, said "I love Egypt. I love my memories here. But I'm scared now. We will come back for visits, we must. My husband is buried here")

Miriam (aged 14, daughter of Yvonne and Mina Abdo, sister of Kerollos, Kuwaiti resident, present during the attack)

Egypt: Alexandria

A suicide bomber attacked the cathedral but did not get through the security checkpoint, 17 were killed and 41 wounded

Pope Tawadros II (UPDATE: was finishing the Divine Liturgy when the attack occurred, refused to move after the explosion and sat in prayer)

Rezk Helmy Kelnton (said "I saw blood stains on the church roof, 30 meters high. And I saw a man with his intestines pouring out of his body. Hands and feet scattered everywhere")

Sameh Fahim (said "I walked just 20 meters out of the church and heard the sound of a huge explosion. White dust filled the place, body parts were flying through the air, people were screaming and running in the street. One was screaming, 'My son!', another was screaming, 'My wife!', and another was screaming, 'My grandson!', as they searched for their loved ones. I saw body parts like a body without a head, it was a terrifying sight")

Fr Sergius (assistant to Pope Tawadros, said "The Church will celebrate Easter and the terrorism cannot prevent it from doing that. We will not...let them break our joy")

Patriarch Ibrahim Isaac Sidrak (aged 61; UPDATE: said "The day of the attacks I was in Alexandria celebrating the Divine Liturgy in our Cathedral, which stands only 200 meters away from the Copt Orthodox Cathedral. We clearly heard the loud explosion...from all over we receive requests to tighten security measures in front of churches in view of our Holy Week liturgies. And we churches have to pay the price for security services. I have no intention of accusing anyone, but many are saddened to see the same attacks time and time again, with the same method, nothing seems to change. In this situation, very often it is our lay people who offer comfort and support and hope to all. Let us pray that the Lord will demonstrate his victory and change the hearts of these murderers")

Amgad Bakheet (rickshaw driver, witnessed the suicide bomber self-detonation, hospitalized with shrapnel wounds)

Naseem Fahim (father of George Naseem Fahim, church security guard, killed)

George Naseem Fahim (son of Naseem Fahim, took his father's place as a church security guard after his father was killed, said "I'm continuing what he started. Why worry or be afraid? He has gone to heaven, and I am ready to join him if necessary")

China: Lieshan District, Huaibei, Anhui province

Pastor Chen Shixin (arrested and charged with 'damaging forestry resources')

Gu (described the arrest of Pastor Chen Shixin “The people from Duji District forcibly occupied 3,000 mus [494 acres] of land [in Lieshan District] for more than 20 years. They ought to have returned the land by now, but they nevertheless do not want to comply with the law. Those people want to build a temple here, so they are trying hard to find our faults. We contracted 20 mus [3 acres] of land on a hill, and we cleaned up the weeds and wild vegetation from previous cultivation. They then accused us of damaging more than 3,000 trees, which we’ve never laid our hands on”)

Auxiliary Bishop Theodore Mascarenhas SFX (UPDATE: said following several attacks on Christians on Palm Sunday "We are distressed that people have begun taking the law into their own hands in various matters. This is not good for the country and not good for social and religious harmony. We call upon the prime minister to rein in these unruly forces and restore India's image")

Dr John Dayal (UPDATE: said “The rash of violence against Christians, disrupting Palm Sunday prayers speaks of a heightened impunity. We suspect a more direct collusion of police and local authorities, especially in Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Jharkhand, Chhattisgarh and Rajasthan [Indian states currently ruled by the Hindu nationalist Bharatiya Janata Party - BJP] in an aggressive competition to prove they are the most nationalist defenders of Hindutva [Hindu nationalism], cleverly disguised as a ‘way of life’. Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the chief ministers of the states, including Yogi Adityanath of [Uttar Pradesh], cannot shrug off their responsibility and must be held accountable for...encouraging, directly or indirectly, their political and religious cadres”, added that Modi's condemnation of the ISIL church bombings in Egypt "...should not blind us to this violence against a community that numbers a mere 26 million in a population of a billion and a quarter and is extremely vulnerable. Threats by government members in Parliament and state legislatures for a ban on evangelization, extra-judicial curbs on the freedom of faith and expression, and a penetration of the police and sections of the judiciary by Hindutva elements makes it a real and present danger to freedom of religion in secular India...[it] camouflages bigotry and persecution, acts as a smokescreen and helps evade international scrutiny")

Nigeria: Asso, Jema'a local government area, Kaduna state

The Christian Association of Nigeria, Southern Kaduna branch, condemned a Fulani Muslim attack on Easter Vigil "It is with heavy hearts that we now tell the world that we have again commemorated another major religious festival mourning the death of 12 of our beloved brothers and sisters that were murdered in cold blood"

John Bwankwot (signed the statement, said "[local inhabitants] are so troubled on every side that at a time when we were supposed to be celebrating the suffering, death, burial and resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ for the sin of mankind, we were plunged into wailing, the anguish of soul, bitter cries and burying loved ones...these continuous unprovoked attacks on innocent citizens have the potency of overstretching our peaceful nature and tolerance level")

United Kingdom: Portsmouth

Bishop Philip Egan (UPDATE: said in a homily "In our world, two dangerous ideologies are mounting. Just as in the 20th century it was Communism versus Fascism, so in the 21st a new battle is brewing. On the one side is fundamentalism, religion without reason. It breeds fanaticism, violence, terrorism, to cause disruption and to force upon others its extremist views. This is a tragic reality in the volatile nations of the Middle East. It now threatens the West also. On the other side is secularism, reason without religion. Its champions seek to privatize religion, driving it out of the public domain. Egged on by Stonewall [a homosexual activist group] and by others, secularists are on the rise in local government, in education, in the media, in the social services, in the BMA, in the Equalities and Human Rights Commission, in the European Court of Justice, and in many other institutions too. Hell-bent on burying the Christian patrimony of this land, they propose Orwellian changes to our language and place ever more draconian restrictions on religious expression, even on what we wear. Both fundamentalism and secularism are extremes. They are totalitarian. They are destructive of the human person. They pose a grave threat to human happiness and to a healthy society...this is now having lethal consequences for the weakest, for the unborn child, for the handicapped, the elderly, the dying. This is why this Easter, as Christians, it's time we said, 'enough is enough!'. We need to rise up to the challenge. We need to roll back the agenda. We need to revive and celebrate our Christian history, art and architecture, music and literature, liturgy and ethics")

Indonesia: Jakarta

Governor Basuki Tjahaja Purnama aka Ahok (blasphemy trial begun in Jakarta on December 13, 2016, pled innocent; UPDATE: apparently defeated in his re-election bid, will remain as governor until October 2017 or he is convicted of blasphemy, said "Let's forget all of the problems faced during the campaign because Jakarta is home for us all. We will work fast, work hard to fulfill our promises and hopefully Mr Anies and Mr Sandi can continue our work. To our supporters we understand you're disappointed but it's OK because God has decided. I also lost during the gubernatorial election in 2007 and I told my supporters then 'please be patient, this is God's plan' and what do you know? In 2014 I became Jakarta governor, so you never know")

Retno Setyawati (aged 53, said "What can I do? I must accept the election results. I am afraid he [Anies] would pay more attention to his supporters and that radicalism will grow in Jakarta")

Yohanes Handoyo Budhisedjati (political analyst, said "I can understand if religious minorities are worried and afraid after his [Anies] victory")

Meydie Early (aged 27, disappointed at Ahok's electoral defeat)

Kevin Reiner Hidayat (aged 22, said "We cannot imagine what will happen to us, as radicals who support him [Anies] have also made anti-Chinese statements")

Eko Suwarno (businessman, said "We will support him and we hope he [Anies] continues what Ahok has done")

Nigeria: Delta State

At least 16 churches have been victimized by armed robbers

Pastor Dam Ngozi Iyio (said “With these attacks on churches, members are not left out as many Christians have lost their cars in church premises while worshipping. Many cars have been snatched or stolen from church compounds in Asaba and other parts of the country”)

Pastor Blossom (frightened away robbers with flashlights)

Pastor Andrew Ozobeme (said “This attack is happening every day, we are afraid it will degenerate more than this as many churches have lost their musical equipment to these hoodlums. You close from church today, even very late, the next morning, you will be surprised that robbers have broken into the church and removed all valuables”)

Pastor Bethel Onuoha (condemned the church robberies)

A bishop, two priests, a nun, and two lay people who were accused of illegal conversions in May 2009 were acquitted due to lack of evidence

Bishop Emeritus Mathew Vaniakizhakkal (acquitted, said the case was "part of a motivated campaign against the church for its role in helping weaker sections of society")

Fr Jolly Kannukodan (acquitted, said "The court has vindicated our stand. We had tough time going for bail and other proceedings, from police station to trial court and then to the high court. From day one we have been telling the investigators that this was a fake case aimed at discrediting the Catholic Church", added that they do not plan to bring a defamation suit against their accusers because "Christ has taught us to love even our enemies")

Looters from all over the world come here to exploit the country...The Catholic Church is highly respected in this country because it has never let itself be co-opted by any political group. Now attempts are being made to embroil the Church in the conflict...Schools have been closed, hunger reigns, parts of the population are hiding in the jungle...We dream of an end to this pointless war")

Fr Apollinaire Cikongo (seminary teacher and bishops' conference secretary, said "We have also heard of superstitious rituals. They recruit children and adolescents, give them a potion and a ritual bath, and let them believe that they cannot be harmed by bullets, that they are immortal. And so they commit barbaric crimes, just as if they were under the influence of drugs")

Wang Hongwu (wife of Pastor Li Guozhi aka Yang Hua; UPDATE: reported to have visited her husband in prison with their younger son, said “We were forced to hang up only after 10 minutes of conversation. One of Yang Hua’s inmates laid him on his back and carried him to the meeting room. Although he still couldn’t walk, I could tell that the infections on his legs were under control, and the festering was also beginning to heal. His mental condition was good. Yang Hua cried when he saw his younger son, but we didn’t cry. We were so happy and full of gratefulness and peace... Yang Hua is a new prisoner, which means that only immediate family members are allowed to visit him, and only once a month. The government is paying a lot of attention to Yang Hua. We were surrounded by police officers when we were chatting. He will stay in the [prison in Baiyun, Guiyang] for two-and-a-half months, and then he will be transferred to another prison”)
