Events – February 2018

Thursday February 1, 2018

India: Surat, Gujarat state

Samuel Thomas Mathura (interrupted by a heckler when addressing a Christian convention, a mob then rushed in and forced everyone to leave, roughed up a few attendees, threw chairs, and burnt Bibles and other literature, the convention was cancelled)

Pakistan: Balochistan province

Samuel Piyara (UPDATE: announced that the provincial government will issue weapons licenses to all 41 churches and will conduct training to church volunteers under the Civil Defense Directorate, said "This will further enable a special force of volunteers to assist local police when services are held. We will form a committee to monitor these developments and settle the problems of those affected")

Rev Saimon Bashir Masih (UPDATE: has continued to minister to victims of the December 17, 2017 Quetta church attack, said "We are literally running after patients in different hospitals. People, not buildings, are our priority at present. [Victims and families] are not satisfied with the treatment at government hospitals. At least four patients sustained injuries to their groins and require urgent surgery. One 30-year-old woman suffered amnesia due to a traumatic head injury...I have received calls from an embassy in Islamabad about a Christian lawmaker who is collecting funds in our name. However I haven't recommended or authorized anyone to do this. Such acts of corruption in the name of those who are suffering is despicable")

Saturday February 3, 2018

Syria: Deir Ezzor

Patriarch Ignatius Ephrem II (UPDATE: led the Divine Liturgy in a ruined church, said "It's an indescribable feeling for us to pray in a nearly-destroyed church, which serves as a consolation for our hearts and a message of hope to the people of the city to come back and take part in building it anew")

Bishop Maurice Amsih (UPDATE: said "The important thing now is for life to come back - for Deir Ezzor's residents and Christians to come back to it")

Shadi Tuma (aged 31, remained in the city during the war, said "The hard times that Deir Ezzor went through pushed the families to leave, but there was a determination inside of me to stay in this city. Deir Ezzor will always have coexistence. Christians will always have a presence here")

Sally Qassar (aged 40, said "Prayer for me is like a new life. It gave me the determination to come back to Deir Ezzor and put up with the poor provision of services, and participate in rebuilding it")

Nigeria: Modibbo Adama University of Technology, Yola, Adamawa state

Erick McBen Kyari (aged 25, college student, beaten with sticks and machetes by rioting Muslim students, died)

Ajine Delo (Christian Association of Nigeria Youth Fellowship president, said “At the time of the attack, there was no single Muslim female student at the campus. They have all left since Friday, but nobody informed the Christian students. The assailants may have been angered by the elections of the Student Union Government leadership, held on 29 January 2018. The results had seen the emergence of Christian students on almost all the positions of the Union”)

India: Sehla village, Jammu and Kashmir

Pastor Jaggar Singh (husband, father, polio survivor, church destroyed by more than 300 RSS paramilitary members on January 16, 2018; UPDATE: a meeting of village elders placed a bounty of US$7,795 for his arrest, said "It has been a debilitating life I have suffered since the attack on our church. I have been forced to hide in unsafe places and have been close to being caught several times and if found due to the weakness in my leg I would not have been able to run away. My wife and I cry out to God every night and he has answered our prayers...I have a young daughter who has slept little since the attack she has recurring nightmares, this is the work of the evil one and we know only prayers can save us, so we will continue to pray and ask for you all to pray for us as well...I will not be broken because I know God is with me")

India: Suleeswaranpatti, Pollachi Coimbatore district, Tamil Nadu state

Pastor Challamuthu Stephen (described an attack by 10 Hindu extremists on a church "They shouted slogans demanding us to stop running the church. They damaged the roof of the church and every object in their sight, and issued threats that if we continue gathering as a church, they will kill us. The Christians got frightened and scattered from there...The extremists warned us, 'This area is dominated by Hindus. How dare you run a church here! You can go to America or any foreign land and serve your Christ there!'. Police arrived and asked the Hindu activists to leave, but once the police were gone, they came back again and continued shouting at us")

Canada: London, Ontario

Bishop Ronald Peter Fabbro CSB (UPDATE: wrote to his parishes that the diocese will not accept summer job grants from the government due to the requirement that it profess support of abortion: “I believe that we need to take a stand against the position of the government of Canada and say that we will not be bullied into even the appearance of collusion on this issue. While others may take an alternative path, we can make a powerful statement by saying ‘no’ to the conditions as set down by the government...Ironically, expecting such an attestation to get a job grant is in violation of some of the rights that are actually found in the Charter, while some of the contentious positions espoused by the Government are not”)

Nigeria: Plateau state

At least 75 Christians have been killed in the past month

Rev Jacob Gidado (reported to have called on President Buhari to protect Christians against the “incessant killings...[Christians have been] persecuted beyond measure”)

Peter Ahile (House of Assembly Member, reported to have said “As a lawmaker, I can only talk. The governor, as the chief security officer of the state, is the one [who] can enforce security, he is supposed to come out and address the people of the state. I don’t have the security apparatus. We are only calling on the government to take action because it is the responsibility of the government to protect lives and property”)

United States - New York

Ed Mechmann (Archdiocese of New York spokesman, responded to Governor Andrew Cuomo's executive order requiring all holders of state contracts to support LGBTQ rights "... earlier this week, the Governor veered frighteningly into the territory of the suppression of free thought and speech, and intolerance for religious freedom...By citing this completely irrelevant federal proposal, the press release inadvertently made clear that the Governor's new order is rooted in animosity towards religious freedom...The idea that 'LGBTQ rights' might be 'vulnerable' [whatever that means] because of a decision relating to health insurance coverage of contraceptives is something that only an ideologue could believe...This is classic Orwellian doublethink - simultaneously believing in two utterly contradictory things. You cannot at the same time quash religious liberty and freedom of thought and still claim to be protecting the rights of everyone. This order is premised on the assumption that freedom is a zero-sum game with winners and losers - and the Governor has chosen which side he wants to win...To really capture the import of the Governor's new policy, just consider his own words: “I can tell you that any school that refuses to protect transgender students will not receive a penny of state money and then they are out of business.” No subtlety to that threat. The only schools he could be talking about are religious ones, and everyone knows that means Catholic, Christian and Orthodox Jewish schools. The message is clear - conform or be destroyed...”)

United States – Texas: Corpus Christi

Frank Castillo (aged 61, stabbed to death by a fellow parishioner during a prayer meeting)

Pastor Janson Abraham (stabbed, hospitalized along with 2 other parishioners, said "I would say, you know, we don't know what made him do this but we can extend forgiveness, we can extend love. And his mother is a part of our church. So we are going to help her in the process")

China

Several provinces have begun to require that churches post notices that prohibit the entry of legal minors

Cardinal Joseph Zen Ze-Kium SDB (aged 86, UPDATE: reported on a Shanghai underground church "The priest has told Catholics not to come because there will be no Mass since they have not registered")

Peter (said he saw the signs in Xinjiang "When minors enter internet bars, the government and police turn a blind eye. However, they are becoming very strict in prohibiting minors from entering religious venues. It is ridiculous")

Fr Stephen (underground priest, said children are forced to lie to teachers about their faith "Is this the way to build up our civilization?")

Fr Thomas (said "All religious sites must be registered, no religious activities can be held beyond registered venues, non-registered clergymen are forbidden to host religious liturgies, and party members and minors are prohibited from entering a church. The living space for the church is getting less and less", had begun talks with the State Administration of Religious Affairs "to strive for space for religious freedom and the church to survive; to protect the church and staff from being attacked; and to preserve the church's dogma")

Fr John (said "Officials do not want us to be really underground, which would mean they would lose our traces and not know where we are. If our dogma is not meddled with, everything will be fine. If the religious affairs bureau and the public security bureau understand us, they will not have any worries. If we are really undergoing clandestine activities, we are really a problem to them. For myself, I do not want to be hidden but if we are not allowed to have our religious gatherings, the only way is to become clandestine")

Bangladesh: Tongi

Fr Chanchal Hubert Pereira (held at gunpoint during a church robbery, beaten, said "To save my life I had to give them money, about US$ 420, my mobile phone, and laptop computer")

Bejoy Costa (rectory cook, said "When I entered the Father's room, I found him in tears and tied up")

Bablu Peris (parish council member, said "[I am] worried about the security of the church and the parish priest. We will arrange for video surveillance cameras and a night guard as soon as possible")

Hemanto Corraya (Bangladesh Christian Association secretary general, said he wants "the police to arrest the robbers soon and ensure exemplary punishment")

Momota Costa (housewife, later said "The thieves not only hurt our parish priest, but also our Lord Jesus Christ")

Shipra Serao (wept and fasted after the robbery)

Iraq: Mosul

Nadia Younis Butti (fled her home on July 17, 2014 due to ISIL; UPDATE: returned to her home after the defeat of ISIL, said “It is still extremely dangerous in Mosul. I just spoke to a police officer who lost a colleague this week. He was shot at night. A lot of Mosul’s inhabitants collaborated with ISIL for three years, and some might have relatives or family members who were even part of ISIL. There are a lot of Sunnis who have supported ISIL...The city was liberated by the Iraqi army, which is supported by many Iranian Shiites. In Mosul, they are met with a lot of distrust: they aren’t seen as allies. For me, the city has not become safe since its recapture...I can’t believe my eyes when I see what ISIL has done to my church. I remember sitting here, in the midst of my friends when the Liturgy was served very well. I remember being on the square outside with all the parishioners and using the rooms for meetings: the women in the rooms on the left, the men on the right. Thinking about that time saddens me deeply...After the turn of the century, it was already getting worse for Christians in Mosul. In 2008 and 2009, Christians began to be threatened, abducted and killed for their faith. I received a letter once that said I had to pay, or I would pay with my life. A well-known priest was abducted and slaughtered. His body was found in pieces...When I just looked up, I suddenly felt intense happiness. I saw that the blue dome with Jesus' image had survived the occupation of ISIL reasonably well. Not not much of its beauty has remained, but the image shows how beautiful this church was. The jihadists have only been able to destroy the edges of the picture. Seeing Jesus above me gave me great joy”)

Nigeria

Eleven Catholic bishops met with President Buhari to deliver a statement that read

“Innocent citizens in different communities across the nation are brutally attacked and their sources of livelihood mindlessly destroyed. Property, worth billions of Naira, including places of worship, schools, hospitals and business enterprises, are torched and turned to ashes. We are still more saddened by the recent massacre of unarmed citizens by these terrorists in some communities in Benue, Adamawa, Kaduna and Taraba states, which has caused national shock, grief and outcry...the government, whose responsibility it is to protect the life and property of every citizen, seems either incapable or unwilling to do this. The silence of the federal government...is, to say the least, shocking...[support for the President] is being fast depleted by some glaring failures of government which we have the moral duty to bring to your notice...[there is] a near civil war situation in many parts of the country”

Sajid Masih (aged 24, cousin of Patras Masih, college janitor, arrested by the Federal Investigation Agency under suspicion that he had blasphemous content on his cell phone, no such content found, hospitalized in critical condition after falling from a fourth floor window at the FIA office, said in a video recording "I asked why they were beating me, what have I done that was wrong. They started roundly beating me again and told me they were hitting me because I was the 'cousin of that boy' [Patras Masih]. They told us to insult each other by using the word 'Laanti' [men under a curse], my frightened young cousin complied under great duress. They asked me to remove my cousin's trousers and have oral sex with him. I refused outright. I explained that I can't have oral sex with him because he is my brother, but my pleas made them angry. They then started shouting loudly at both of us. I saw a window in the room and quickly jumped out of it. After this they [FIA officers] downstairs asked why I had jumped from the window, at the time I was semi-conscious. But I could hear everything", was later charged with the crime of attempted suicide)

Wilson Chowdhry (Chairman of the British Pakistani Christian Association, UPDATE: wrote "This news has shattered what little confidence I had in Pakistan's security forces...The sadistic actions of the FIA officers are in breach of the UN Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment which Pakistan has ratified as a nation...They also breach sexual harassment laws and are an alarming testament to the sexual deviation that we have long said exists within the Muslim population of Pakistan, due to sexual repression in Islam and the brutal uninspected madrassa training centers across Pakistan where sexual assault is commonplace...The audacity of the FIA to place suicide charges on a man simply trying to escape torture...is a risible act")

Michelle Chaudhry (President of the Cecil & Irish Chaudhry Foundation, UPDATE: said “We are outraged, shocked and horrified by the alleged behavior of the FIA Cybercrime Wing officials. We demand that this incident be investigated at the earliest and firm action be taken against the officials involved. These acts of brutality cannot be overlooked...A fair trial is every citizen’s right regardless of faith, cast or gender; this kind of extreme hostility and inhuman behavior during investigation is unacceptable and uncalled for and has to end. India: West Champaran district, Bihar state

Two Christians were attacked on a bus while travelling to a prayer meeting, hospitalized

Rev D Joseph

Baldev Singh

Shibu Thomas (founder of Persecution Relief, UPDATE: described the attack "no one intervened to help them while they begged for help. A traffic agent tried to calm spirits, but he was turned away by the angry mob")

Rev Mariosh Joseph (said “It was evident from the mob that it was a pre-planned attack. There was a media person present to record and publish the entire episode in the media, along with the Hindu extremist mob...They told the Christians that they were visiting to lure the innocent and poor villagers with money and benefits and fool them into becoming Christians...Even being in a public place, no one came to their rescue, and passersby were mere spectators as the mob beat both the Christians mercilessly, while the other Christian teammates cried for help...Some of the women got so frightened that they fled the site and returned home from the bus station itself without attending the camp...The right-wing groups are specially instructed to hit in a way that they do not bleed anyone externally, but cause gruesome injuries internally...The police in most of the cases are biased and try to see how they can frame the victims, rather than doing the other way around...Though such an incident of violence against the Christian believers happened, the meeting continued, and the people were blessed and inspired by the Word of God”)

Nigeria: Kasuwan Magani, Kaduna state

Two Christian teen girls were abducted by Muslims and forced to convert, some Christians attempted to rescue them, the Muslims defeated the rescue and then attacked Christian homes and businesses, killing 12 and injuring 20

James Madaki (aged 50, described the incident “The case was reported to the police, and the girls were not rescued, so [after 2 weeks] some Christians decided to rescue the girls, but the Muslims in the town attacked them. The Muslims did not just attack the Christians that went to rescue the girls, but also went round town attacking Christians they sighted and burned houses belonging to Christians...As I talk to you, 12 Christians have been killed and 20 others injured and are being taken to hospitals in the city of Kaduna. The names of those killed are not readily available to me at the moment, but I can confirm to you that they are Christians killed in the Christian area of the town”)

Omega Funom (texted “The crisis here occurred because two Christian underage girls were kidnapped and forced to become Muslims by some Muslims in this town. This is the practice by Muslims in Kaduna state. They abduct small Christian girls and force them to become Muslims, and when Christians reject this, they attack them to create the impression that there’s a religious crisis...The Assembly of God Church was burnt down. Muslims were armed with AK-47 guns as they attacked Christians. This is a Jihad by the Muslims”)

Rev John Hayap (Christian Association of Nigeria, said “There have been such forceful conversion of teenage Christian girls by Muslim leaders in northern Nigeria, and the Nigerian government has not been able to put an end to this. I feel very sad about such violence on Christians, but what more can we do than to pray and ask for God’s intervention. We’ll continue to preach peace and tolerance in our churches no matter the level of provocation from our Muslim neighbors”)

Any agreement signed under such circumstances is contrary to what really happens in China. Signing an agreement is give and take, but now only the Vatican is giving...I have talked to Hong Kong leftists who said that China's politics are like a wordless book, but the Holy See usually knows about China through files, which in many cases are translated into Chinese from Italian and lose their original meaning...Europeans regard the communist moderates, holding cups to talk about politics, allowing multi-party politics, and even members of a communist party having religious beliefs, but it is totally different in China, which is a one-party dictatorship. That's why Bishop Marcelo Sanchez Sorondo recently said that China can best reflect Catholic social doctrine, which shows a failure to understand China")

Christians spoke on the proposed constitutional change that would remove term limits on President Xi Jinping

China: northeast of the country

Fr John (reported to have said "Xi does not arrange his successor and even Premier Li Keqiang is retained only to be a display. What is the impact on the church? Only worse! Xi is following Mao's leftist line, which is hostile to religions, especially 'Western' religions")

Paul (reported to have said "The influence will be great. If he [President Xi Jinping] wants to be a dictatorship, he will suppress those opposing him, including religion. That is exactly what Mao Zedong was doing. [The underground church under such a political atmosphere] can only be a slaughtered lamb")

China: Chinese University of Hong Kong

Ying Fuk-tsang (divinity school director, reported to have quoted the proposal as having "indirectly said that Xi Jinping's religious policy will continue, that the government's control will be more stringent")
