Central African Republic: Bangui

Fr Albert Toungoumale-Baba (aged 71, killed along with 23 worshippers during a gun and grenade attack on a Mass, 170 were injured)

Fr Frederico Trincherio OCD (UPDATE: said that Fr Albert Toungoumale-Baba was “well known, esteemed and loved by the people” and that he had sheltered large numbers of refugees of various faiths at his church during the recent conflict)

Cardinal Dieudonne Nzapalainga (UPDATE: spoke after mourners attempted to carry the body of Fr Albert Toungoumale-Baba to the presidential palace and burned down a mosque “The whole Christian community, not just in our country, has been plunged into mourning, after brothers and sisters who came here for Mass encountered suffering, injury and death instead. It’s at most difficult moments like this that true heroes arise and find the strength to propose an alternative, saying no to the evil of violence, barbarism and destruction, and choosing the good of love, forgiveness and reconciliation...behind these events, I ask myself if there’s also manipulation and instrumentalization, a wish to divide the country and a hidden agenda”)

India: Thiruvannamalai, Tamil Nadu state

Pastor Govrathnam Anbarasan (church destroyed by arson, later said “That week, we conducted a VBS [Vacation Bible School] program for children in the church. There was opposition from Hindu fundamentalists in Thiruvannamalai, but we continued the church services...As the roof was woven with coconut leaves, it is enough to ignite a small portion [after the children left] and the fire can spread all over easily in short time. I was visiting a believer’s family about three miles away to pray for their son...Since the past two months, we have been worshipping in open air under a tent. A relief organization had come forward promising to help, but I received nothing from them. We don’t have enough means to rebuild the church, even if temporarily”)

Madengho Badir (aged 45, convert from Islam, father of Nabukwasi Shakira, Gessa Amuza and Wagti Musitafa, children abducted; UPDATE: recovered his children after their escape, said “It seems the person who took my children had an intention of Islamizing them as well as wanting them to join a terrorist group. Thank God for saving my children in a miraculous way. Though the children looked miserable, sickly and confused, now with counseling they will be restored back. The God who saved them is able to restore them back to good, sound mind”)

Nabukwasi Shakira (aged 7, child of Madengho Badir, abducted; UPDATE: escaped)

Gessa Amuza (aged 10, child of Madengho Badir, abducted; UPDATE: escaped)

Wagti Musitafa (aged 12, child of Madengho Badir, abducted; UPDATE: escaped, later said “Daily we were taught the Quran, and on some occasions we lacked food to eat. After two years, the man who was caring for us told us that he was planning to take us outside Uganda, and this made us fearful, such that after lunch while being all alone we managed to escape from that house without knowing where we were heading to”)

Canada: Ottawa

Twenty-two thousand anti-abortion demonstrators were forced by police to re-route their march to Parliament Hill when the route was blocked by up to 100 pro-abortion demonstrators

Cardinal Thomas Collins (UPDATE: told the pro-life marchers “Soon you will come upon people yelling and screaming...There is great power in silence. [Make this a] silent pilgrimage of deep prayer. Only in that disposition will we see the way in which these great evils will be overcome”)

Jim Hughes (march organizer, said some marchers were angry that the police did not clear the counter-protestors from the permitted route)

Cardinal Gerald Cyprien Lacroix (attacked at a May 8, 2014 National March for Life rally in Ottawa, Ontario by two topless Femen members, protected by RCMP officers; UPDATE: marched)

Archbishop Terrence Prendergast (marched)

Archbishop Christian Lepine (marched)

Archbishop Brendan O’Brien (marched)

Jeff Gunnarson (march organizer, said “Instead of the cops doing their duty and clearing the streets for us, and making it safe for us, they allowed the pro-abort protestors to be a presence in such a way that they were forced to reroute our march, and so thereby really giving them a sort of victory. I just can't help but think that why do peaceful protesters have to be diverted? Why not take the ones that are causing the trouble and getting them moved away? That's just common sense to me. And the fact that we have a permit, they don't, so they're in our space, and yet we have to be diverted to avoid them...The police should do everything they can to avoid any kind of disturbance or violence. You certainly don't get violence coming from our side. But I think they should clear the pro-abortion protestors out. 'You're not allowed to be here. These people have a permit.' I mean, can you imagine if we all decided to lie down on the streets in front of the Gay Pride Parade to protest their actions within the parade? We would be pepper sprayed and handcuffed and picked up")

Mushtaq Masih (aged 45, sanitation worker, died from asphyxiation in a sewer while trying to rescue Saqib Masih, had been denied safety equipment, had applied for retirement but was forced to continue work after denial of back pay)

Gamma (retrieved Saqib Masih and Mushtaq Masih from the sewer)

Rashid Masih (municipal councilor, said “They were assigned to open up a clogged sewerage line on Qaziwala Road. The line had been clogged for almost a year. First Saqib went down and opened one side of the clogged pipeline. But as soon the line was cleared poisonous gases in the pipeline for months started leaking into the gutter and Saqib quickly fell unconscious. Then Mushtaq went down but he also fell unconscious. We called rescue services, but no help arrived. Another Christian, Gamma, tied a water-soaked handkerchief over his mouth, went down and brought out both the unconscious men. We took them to hospital where they were pronounced dead...After the two were declared dead, we held a protest and the civil administration assured us of support. The protest ended after the civil administration negotiated. They then arranged for the funerals and also provided 250,000 Pakistani rupees [c. US $2,170]. United Kingdom

Jacob Rees-Mogg (aged 49, Member of Parliament; UPDATE: replied in a BBC interview to a question regarding whether his faith meant he 'had a problem' with a pregnant lesbian co-member "I make no criticism of any of my colleagues, but do you believe in religious tolerance? So why do you pick on this view of the Catholic Church?...You are saying that tolerance only goes so far and you should not be tolerant of the teaching of the Catholic Church, so isn't this stretching into religious bigotry?...The act of tolerance is to tolerate things you do not agree with not just ones you do agree with and the problem with liberal tolerance is it has got to the point of only tolerating what it likes")

Bishop Mark Davies (UPDATE: commented on the BBC interview of Jacob Rees-Mogg “The hounding of a Member of Parliament like Jacob Rees-Mogg for simply sharing the faith of Catholic Church indicates that the BBC and its interviewers see Catholic teaching as being somehow beyond public tolerance. It is hard to see this treatment of Catholic politicians as being other than a new bigotry”)

Bishop John Keenan (UPDATE: commented that during the BBC interview of Jacob Rees-Mogg the interviewer had to “hide behind the old red-herrings of ‘other people say’, and ‘members of your own party say’. When that particular trick wasn’t working, she had to lay her cards on the table and put to him the notion – as a serious question, can you believe! – that being a practicing Catholic should be a barrier to high public office. In short, that Catholics like Rees-Mogg simply can’t be Prime Minister because it’s just not British in this day and age. She openly wondered if it was a ‘problem’ to hold ordinary Catholic beliefs in high office, and seriously suggested that Catholics who were against the likes of abortion and same-sex marriage should be barred from decision-making in public life. Rees-Mogg was quite right to call this secular bigotry. What else is it?...[Rees-Mogg was right to] point out that this aggressive secularism has nothing liberal about it. He was right to call out the BBC for picking on the Catholic Church particularly, and to signal that it would not treat Muslims or Jews in anything like the same prejudicial way in which it now routinely and casually treats Catholics...Jo Coburn asked, in the end, if you can divorce your personal views from your politics. It is clear that there are elements in the BBC who find it quite impossible to make such a separation, and who find it quite acceptable to bring their own personal animus against the Catholic Church to the front and center of their work, in an aggressive propaganda that runs ‘Pro-Choice-LGBT good, Catholics bad’. They peddle this idea without a care for its compromising effect on the best values of their own public service broadcasting mission. In that sense it is not just the Catholic Church that they offend but their own founding values of balance and fairness...I wonder, when the dust settles and this era moves on, if the BBC will be able to emerge with any reputation intact from having so boldly pinned its colors to the mast of a present but surely time-limited ideology whose worrying and deleterious effects on tolerance and on the common good are becoming plainer to see by the day”)

Rupash Manjhi (convert, fiancé of Sumanti Kumari, arrested)

Pastor Sudarshan Manjhi (husband of Biyari Devi, arrested)

Tripti (aged 18, convert, sister of Sumanti Kumari, said “My father was drugged with alcohol that day, and the Sarna tribals, including the village president, abetted him to submit the false complaint in the police station pending the wedding so there won’t be a Christian wedding in the village. He is now repentant for what he has done, but it is too late...We have been pleading with my father to testify in the court that he was instigated by the Sarnas, and that the allegations are false. My younger brother and I keep asking him, ‘How can you go against your own daughter? She is in jail because of you. Why are you doing this?’”)

Biyari Devi (wife of Pastor Sudarshan Manjhi, said of the engaged couple “They both come from Sarna [tribal] families but have accepted Christ, and it is obvious that they would want a holy matrimony. Somaru Manjhi [the bride's father] is my uncle also in relation. He has always been against Christ and the church since the house church was established in 2008. But he never became violent or aggressive with us until the question was about his daughter’s marriage”)

Saleem Masih (father of Emmanuel Saleem, uncle of Waqas Masih, rickshaw driver, home invaded by police who threatened to arrest him on false charges if he did not pay them extortion money, refused, nephew beaten to death in retribution)

Emmanuel Saleem (son of Saleem Masih, cousin of Waqas Masih, described the police attack on his home in which his cousin was killed “We asked them what they wanted, to which they said that they had information that we are drug peddlers and that they had raided the house to recover the narcotics. We are poor Christians, but we earn our livelihood with honesty and integrity. We knew that the policemen were there for extorting money, but since we had done nothing wrong, my father chose to confront them rather than succumb to their blackmail [at which point they repeated their threats to make false arrests]. This must have panicked Waqas, who ran outside the house. The three cops ran after him, as did my other cousins, Qaiser and Dawood. The cops got hold of Waqas soon after and started hitting him mercilessly with punches, kicks and gun butts. Qaiser and Dawood tried to save Waqas from the police torture, but they were pushed back and warned not to intervene in the beating”)
