Nigeria

Rev Emmanuel Haruna (said of recent attacks “Even as I speak to you, Fulani herdsmen take their cattle to farms of our church members and destroy their crops, and security agents have not been able to take measures to stop them,” he said. “These herdsmen do whatever that pleases them with Christian communities, and no one cares about such ugly trends in our state. For instance, in Rutu village, 29 of our church members were killed and their houses destroyed. Also, at Angwan Dariya village, six of our church members were killed and others displaced, while their houses too, were destroyed. In Adanba village, seven worship buildings were destroyed, and our church members were scattered. In Ogeni village, one worship building was destroyed and our church members there displaced. The attackers looted houses of food items, money, and other valuables before setting fire on the houses of Christian residents there [in Indeshi]. Many Christian communities were attacked for no justifiable reason. In Agwan Dariya village, six of our members were killed...The situation is very unfortunate and bad – we need our brethren out there to pray for Christian communities in Nasarawa state and for possible action by the government to put an end to these senseless attacks on churches. So also, if there are individuals who are blessed with the means, they too should assist these suffering Christian brethren. We shall be very grateful to see that these Christian brethren are assisted”)

Solomon Musa (UPDATE: reported to have said “The same people suspected of carrying out this genocide, that has nothing to do with grass for cows, are the ones being given the government’s approval to sit on annexed land within communities that are completely agrarian”)

Pakistan: Warsak Dam, Khyber-Pakhtunkhwa

Samuel Masih (aged 55, father of five, brother of Mushtaq Masih, Christian ghetto security guard, shot dead in a terror attack after opening the gate to the ghetto)

Mushtaq Masih (brother of Samuel Masih)

Ata-ur-Rehman Saman (UPDATE: commented on twin terror attacks - one against a Christian ghetto - that resulted in 13 killed and over 50 wounded, added that the quick police response that prevented any deaths of ghetto residents "for sure will send a clear message to the forces against the state that operate in our country . The terrorists could have caused more damage if security forces had not intervened in time")

Joel Amir Bobby (expressed "clear condemnation of the terrorist attack against the Christian colony [ghetto]. It really means that terrorists strike Christians, who are already living in fear and in precarious conditions. We ask that the colony be immediately placed protection and in particular the churches")

Rojar Randhawa (UPDATE: said the government must offer "protection against fanatics. The authorities must protect everyone, Christians and Muslims, the violence perpetrated by these sectarian criminals")

Rt Rev Sarfarz Humphrey Peters (UPDATE: condemned the "brutal act of terrorism against the Christian community")

Fr Yunis Riaz (said "People are afraid, we are mourning Samuel's death. About 30 Christian families live in the colony...They are simple people, most of them work as cleaners in public offices. They are people with a strong faith: we will overcome this...The Taliban indiscriminately hit civilian and military targets, schools and families: they want to destroy peace and have visibility, threatening institutions. We will remain united in protecting social and religious peace. As Christians, we will do our part, praying and working peacefully, building peace in our daily lives every day")

Frederich Azeem Ghauri (lawmaker; UPDATE: said "I personally visited the area and the army have cordoned off it and search is going on. The terrorists had water and food with them, which shows that they had planned a massacre on a large scale, but God has been kind to save the community. One suicide bomber entered an under-construction house and blew himself up. Luckily there was no-one there, so everyone remained safe")

United States – Arizona: Scottsdale

Lisa Gregory (high school parent, complained of the desecration of a statue of Mary the mother of Jesus "It's beyond offensive. There's nothing worse than to desecrate an image of [Mary]...It's probably high school hijinx, but [the vandal] needs to understand that it was bigotry and intolerance. He probably doesn't realize that")

Mike Williams (high school parent, complained of a Jesus character on the football field, "He was dancing with the devil and mocking what we as Christians consider holy and sacred...Kids are young and dumb and make mistakes, but if you can't pray in a public school, you shouldn't be able to mock [Jesus] in a public school")

Iraq

Athraa (student, one of nine in her family, refugee, said of her escape from ISIL in 2014: "The first months were a disaster. We lived in many different places. We lived in a wedding hall and a church garden. We ended up in a tent in a sports center. It was a really difficult. In the night I couldn't sleep because I heard the mice running around in my tent. There was not enough water and the food was not that good", family now shares a house with another family, added "I am glad that this happened because it changed my life. After the displacement I was bored, there was nothing to do, so I went to church more often. Soon I got involved with a Bible study group that gathers twice a week. I discovered that every line in the Bible tells us something. But what I like best is when we as a small group celebrate Holy Communion with the priest in the way the people in the time of Jesus did. We have a piece of bread and share that with each other. It is something wonderful. It gives me patience to continue my life, to see things from a bigger perspective...We don't have to spend our time asking ourselves why this happened to us. God doesn't want to hurt us. He is speaking with us and we need to hear Him and trust Him. I learned that it's good to spend these days in prayer. IS took our land and our money, but we still have our lives and we have to live them like God wants us to. When you learn these things, you have to share them. I can help God to reach the people with his message. So I want to assist the people in my community to rediscover the richness of faith and I want to be there for them when they struggle...I did go to church before my displacement, but I wasn't involved as much as I am now. I spent my time differently. I was an impatient person and always wanted to have things my way...I found a peace in my heart, peace in my life. God has made me a more patient and forgiving person. I know that God is with me and that's the most important thing")

North Korea

Emily Fuentes (Open Doors USA spokeswoman, said “North Korea has done the most they’ve done in a long time in [nuclear] testing recently. It is cause for concern, it is cause for speculation on what they might be doing and what their plans might be for war against the world...According to his [Kim Jong Un's] ideology, he’s essentially ‘god’, the Kim dynasty is ‘god’, and because Christianity is associated with the West, it’s a double whammy, a double threat, so Christians are targeted...We’ve got to keep praying for their safety. That they would be able to stand strong as they are enduring this persecution, that they would continue to be Christ-like”)

Wilson Chowdhry (criticized a new policy of the UN High Commissioner for Refugees in Bangkok which reduced the time to appeal a denial of asylum from 90 to 30 days and which would render all verdicts in English without translation, said in London, United Kingdom "Pakistani Christians find themselves in a nadir, they are not wanted by their home nation because their faith makes them ritually impure, the equivalent of a demon. They cannot seek asylum in the west as Christians are not welcome there anymore, and they face definite re-persecution in Buddhist, Hindu and other Muslim nations - if they can even get there. The international community needs to think long and hard on this issue, persecution for Christians across the globe is increasing rapidly. To stem the tide a sanctuary has to be declared for them")

United States – Maryland: Baltimore

Archbishop William E Lori (condemned anti-religious comments by the chair of the U.S.

Commission on Civil Rights that attacked religious liberty as 'hypocrisy' and 'code words for discrimination, intolerance, racism, sexism, homophobia, Islamophobia or any form of intolerance': "These statements painting those who support religious freedom with the broad brush of bigotry are reckless and reveal a profound disregard for the religious foundations of his own work...He makes the shocking suggestion that Catholic, evangelical, orthodox Jewish, Mormon, and Muslim communities are comparable to fringe segregationists from the civil rights era...Rest assured, if people of faith continue to be marginalized, it is the poor and vulnerable, not the Chairman and his friends, who will suffer")

Christians were reported to have complained when the movie Ben Hur was released with all scenes of Jesus deleted, the local distributor said it "is required to oblige local legal requirements and guidelines for the movie to be released locally in the market"

Jasmine Sia (said "I felt cheated. The novel from which this movie is adapted is Ben-Hur: A Tale of Christ. It means Jesus is central to the plot. It was censored so much the storyline made no sense! How did Judah's mother and sister get cured from leprosy? They just appeared at the end of the movie healed. That's why it made no sense. The original story was that when Jesus died, they got healed") Farshid Rezaee (said "I chose to watch that movie precisely because of its strong Christian message. The movie made no sense without those scenes. Is there an obligation to screen a movie like this knowing you have to remove crucial scenes? Had I known about those changes, I would not have paid any money for it")

Razzak Masih (aged 48, father of Rukhsana, Sumera, Fayaz, Samina, and Haroon, reported to have been held in slave labor for the last 5 years along with his family after charged extortionary interest on a loan of US$572 that he took out for his daughter's wedding, forced to leave his municipal job and benefits for a brick kiln, was not able to read the contract due to illiteracy, said "Everyday I have been threatened and laughed at, my family too. We have been taking a lot of abuse from the brick kiln owners who tell us we are worthless and keep telling us how much we owe and how the amount keeps growing...They kept offering to buy one of my daughters to reduce the loan, but I declined their offer. I have been very worried that something might happen to the girls and have prayed for a way out for so long, it has now been five years...It is hard being a father but the pressure they put on me was unbearable, sometimes I just wanted to take my own life. But I knew that if I did God would not forgive me and I would never get to see my children in the peace of heaven. This earth is harsh but I will not give up the blessing of heaven to escape the pain", rescued)

Fr Emmanuel Dim (seminary rector, abducted, US$8,000 ransom demanded)

Fr Chukwuemeka (university chaplain, shot in the head during the abduction of Fr Emmanuel Dim, hospitalized)

Fr Hyginus Aghaulor (reported on the abduction of Fr Emmanuel Dim, said "The Catholic Bishops Conference of Nigeria has decided and directed that ransom should not be paid for the kidnap of any of its priests and anybody that is demanding for ransom for the release of any priest kidnapped is wasting time. If anybody or group goes ahead to pay ransom for the release of any priest, the person or the group is on his own...One begins to wonder if Catholic priest have become [an] endangered species...While innocent people are left unprotected, we have seen barrage of military wares and personnel protecting the pipelines in Niger Delta, as if oil is more important than people's life. Why should people be killed without provocation in their own traditional lands?")

Nigeria: Dogon Fili village

An attack on at least two villages by Fulani Muslim herdsmen ended after three days

John Audu (shot dead)

Tahiru Audu (shot dead)

Jonathan Yakubu (shot dead)

Hasholy Tari (aged 35, killed)

Iliya Maiga (aged 70, husband of Alisabatu Iliya, father of Istifanus Iliya, killed)

Alisabatu Iliya (wife of Iliya Maiga, mother of Istifanus Iliya, died from gunshot wounds)

Istifanus Iliya (aged 50, son of Iliya Maiga and Alisabatu Iliya, killed)

Williams Anche (aged 51, killed)

Enoch James (aged 23, killed with a machete)

Jonathan Akos (aged 49, killed)

Gabriel Adamu (aged 30, killed)

Daniel Amos (aged 60, community leader, said “These Fulani herdsmen attacked us for three days and killed nine of my people, all of them married Christians who died leaving behind children. In all, 12 houses were burned by the herdsmen. These Muslim herdsmen destroyed all our crops on our farms. Survivors among my people have been displaced, and some of them may never again return to this village...This is the first of this type of attack on my people, and I know that there has never been any problem between my people and these herdsmen,” Amos said. “If there was any such problem, I would definitely have looked for ways to resolve them amicably. Unfortunately, these herdsmen never told us what the problem is. As Christians, we’ll never want to have problems with others”)

Yakubu Sabo (aged 26, said “Alisabatu Iliya was shot on both legs and hands, and all limbs were broken. She died from bleeding from the bullet wounds. John Audu and Tahiru Audu were shot and killed by the herdsmen. Jonathan Yakubu too was shot, and he died, while Enoch James was cut on his head with a machete resulting in his bleeding to death”)

Associate Pastor Audu Ibrahim Mai’angwa (aged 32, said “The following morning, which was a Monday, the herdsmen returned at about 11 AM to carry out another attack on our village, killing four more of our people. The four murdered are members of my church”)

Pastor Markus Danladi Akwa (aged 55, said “I urge our Christian brethren to not despair, but to have hope that they shall overcome these trials. We must forgive these herdsmen for persecuting us and pray that God convicts them so that they come to know Jesus Christ...I want to plead with our government to put an end to these senseless attacks on Christians. The government should also urgently assist these Christian villagers, as many are now starving as all their crops were destroyed and houses burned down”)

Mexico: Mexico City

Fr Hugo Valdemar Romero (Archdiocesan spokesman; UPDATE: slammed a state prosecutor's allegations that the three most recent murders of priests were due to their own questionable behaviors “In these cases it has become clear that state governments that cannot handle the drug cartels are criminalizing the victims, depicting some as drunks and another as a pedophile, making it look like the crimes were not related to drug cartels but because of some immoral conduct. To physical death they are adding moral assassination, slandering the priests and holding them up to ridicule, and that has caused deep indignation in the Church...the least we expect is a public apology”)

Ghazan (aged 47, father of three aged 9 through 21, refugee, reported to have said “Back in my own town on the Nineveh Plain, I used to have a successful transport company. We had a good life until ISIL came and forced us out. I heard that ISIL stole all our cars and are using them in Mosul right now...I have lost everything, but I thank God that my family is still with me”, currently works in a bakery, said "Although I don't earn much here and I have to work much longer hours than I did in my last job, I can at least pay rent so my family doesn't have to live in a camp")

Suaad (widow, tailor, refugee from Mosul, currently manages a sewing factory, reported to have said “I haven't been able to return since. I feel heavy inside, not knowing what has happened to my town...The priest asked me to be in charge of the factory so I took the job. I would have done it for nothing if necessary, but I am happy that I get paid and I can share it with my family...It's what I like most about the job, that I can share with those in a worse position than me. Sometimes a displaced person asks me to make a dress. I don't charge them. How could I?”)

Lebanon

Jonas (aged early 50's, framer, Syrian refugee, showed a picture on Google Earth, said “This was my farm. It is very big. These buildings here were huge. I had about 2,000 olive trees here too. They're now all gone. ISIL destroyed everything – the house, the buildings, they cut down all the trees. I lost everything there...I was at the farm with the caretaker. I told them I didn't want them to take my cattle. They started shooting and then my caretaker fell dead on the ground. I was hit in my leg three times. They took all my cows and I heard they sold them in Turkey. Turkey is playing a dirty game in Syria...We're living in a small apartment now and I have some work in construction. The first year here I became depressed. But I started to pray more to God and that has helped me. I pray very often but have all these questions about why [attacks by ISIL] happen to Christians...Syria is finished. When the war is over, people will be full of hatred. They don't forget who killed their brother, son or father. They will want to take revenge. I think there is only a future for the Church in Syria when Christians all around the world help. If the Christians really disappear from Syria it will be a disaster for Christianity all around the world. You know, we Christians love our country, we would love to stay, would love to return, but we need the basic conditions to live there”)

Argentina: Neuquen

Bishop Virginio Bressanelli (condemned an attack by pro-abortion feminists against his cathedral in which a mural of the Mothers of Plaza de Mayo [who had opposed the Dirty War of the early 1980's] was defaced, said "At certain times of the year there are demonstrations. Unfortunately, in some cases, as in this pro-abortion demonstration, this also happens. This varnish will damage the building and we have to redecorate it in order to erase the writing...It is a sad fact [regarding the mural damage]. I think there are things that are part of the beauty of the town and the heritage of all, so we cannot accept anything like that")

Jean (alias, attacked by Islamic militants while walking home from work “It was around 6pm. There were many of them. Some had guns, others machetes. They pushed me around for a while before someone forced me into the bush. Two of them slashed me with their machetes. After the second blow, I lay still like a corpse. They watched me bleed for what seemed like a very long time and then left, thinking I was dead. They went to a nearby house and set it on fire, before taking off”, walked to a clinic but found it closed, added “Eventually the military passed by and noticed that I was wounded and in serious need of help, so they brought me here [to the hospital]”)

Gracia (alias, church leader, said “I have no choice, it is my town. If I would run, where would I run to? It is something we experience daily, gunshots left and right.
