India: Jhansi, Uttar Pradesh state

Fr Alex Onampally (condemned the harassment and arrest of two nuns and two postulants on false accusations of forced conversions while travelling by train, called it a “planned attempt to harass and mistreat the nuns...During the journey, the two postulants were dressed in plain clothes and the other two in nuns' habits. When they returned from Delhi earlier in the afternoon and reached Jhansi around 7.30 pm, some Bajrang Dal activists [a sister of the RSS paramilitary organization], who were returning from a pilgrimage, abused and harassed them. Their main allegation was that the two postulants had been taken by the Sisters to convert them to Christianity. They did not accept the postulants' words that they were born Christian...[The nuns were taken into police custody] when Bajrang Dal activists misinformed the police that the nuns were taking them to convert. Hundreds of Bajrang Dal activists created an atmosphere of terror by shouting slogans outside as the nuns entered the police station...The nuns were released around 11.30 pm after a high-ranking police officer verified the matter...It is suspected that there was a conspiracy behind the arrival of about 150 people at the station in a short period of time to attack the nuns. The experience of the four nuns in Jhansi is just the latest example of how social conditions in India are becoming intolerant for other religions...Tens of thousands of priests and nuns are engaged in selfless service in the northern states. The Syro-Malabar Church strongly condemns these violent acts against Christians who are citizens of the country and demands that the State government and the central government punish the culprits by taking severe punitive measures”)

Robert Hoogland (arrested and jailed on a charge of family violence after he refused to refer to his 14 year old daughter with male pronouns and for defying a court ban on publicly describing her gender transition, including the identity of her doctors [which were publicly acknowledged in earlier court documents] and the fact that one doctor had advised his patients to claim suicidal feelings to secure medical and legal institutional support for their transitions, had earlier said “I had a perfectly healthy child a year ago, and that perfectly healthy child has been altered and destroyed for absolutely no good reason...What kind of father would I be if, let’s say in 5, 10 years my daughter is detransitioning, and she turns to me and says...‘Why did none of you do anything to stop this? I was a child. None of you stuck your neck out for me back then. You just let me do it because I was a...immature kid, thinking this was something great.’ When my daughter asks me that question, I’ll say...‘I did everything that I possibly could.’...Whatever happens to me pales in comparison to what’s already happened to my daughter”, said just prior to his arrest "pray - anybody can pray...Educate people. Tell people what’s going on...talk to your neighbor and say, ‘Hey, this is what’s going on in the world’...To even do a simple thing like that...that’s commendable, that’s courage to me. To even do a simple thing like that”)

Dr Albert Mohler (Southern Baptist Theological Seminary; UPDATE: said in response to USA Today sports columnist Hemal Jhaveri's call for Oral Roberts University to be banned from the NCAA because Christianity is "archaic" and "wildly out of line with modern society and the basic values of human decency": "This is language beyond anything we've yet seen, although the logic has been there all the time...the most dangerous letters when it comes to the continuation of Christian higher education are the letters NCAA, because the NCAA is indeed adopting policies and pointing in directions that will make it impossible for Christian institutions that hold to a biblical standard of morality, or even a biblical definition of male and female, to continue in participation...We're about to find out just how many Christian schools are going to be willing to stand on biblical standards...we're about to find out just how many schools are actually serving the cause of sports, and how many are going to serve the cause of Christ...recognize if it's said about Oral Roberts University today, it will be said about you, your school, your church, your organization, your Christian congregation, tomorrow. Count on it")
